

By Peter Bogdanov

Nestled within one of the many moonscape valleys of Cappadocia lies a secluded retreat center of authentic cave dwellings, the Gamirasu Cave Hotel. Here, amidst fertile volcanic soil in the prime agricultural heartland of fruit orchards and vineyards, the 25-room establishment features simple but well-appointed rooms along with offering impeccable service.

Passing through the tiny village of Ayvali, just a few kilometers from the larger tourist centers of Urgup and Goreme, our van descended the last narrow street before crossing a bridge to bring us to the front door of the hotel...

Click Here For The Full Article